under the sponsorship of UGC, SERO, Hyderabad*

Activity. 1

A Brief Report

Security is a term of stress reliever in insecure life. Food, being the first most important need of human life, needs to be taken care of by everyone in the changing scenario of environmental, political and technical conditions associated with overpopulation and increasing rate of mortality with improved medical knowledge and facilities.

Food security means availability, accessibility and affordability of food to all people at all times. But ensuring food security ought to be an issue of great importance for a country like India- where more than one third of the population is estimated to be absolutely poor and one-half of all children malnourished in one way or other. Food availability is a necessary condition for food security. At present, providing food security to all insecure people became the prime responsibility of the Central, State and Local governments of all the countries.

Conducting this seminar humbly aims at focusing a deep look into various issues related to Government policies and different challenges associated with successful implementation in providing food security to all the needy Indians. Different ideas presented at the Seminar thus, helps to improve the knowledge and ideas of all the participants and especially, of the students- the future makers of India's role on the path of development.

The question of food security has a number of dimensions that extend beyond the production, availability, and demand for food. There has been a paradigmatic shift in the concept of food security, from food availability and stability to household food insecurity, and from assessment of input measures to output indicators and clinical signs of malnutrition.

The seminar paved a convenient stage to exchange the ideas and encouraged the participation of not only the teachers and researchers but also young students from rural areas in understanding the concept and clarifying their doubts.

The Seminar discussed about the following issues relating to food security:

- ❖ Basic issues related to food security;
- ❖ Challenges associated with providing food security;
- ❖ Government policy on food security;
- ❖ National Food Security Bill formidable challenges and strategies;
- ❖ Central , State Government's strategies in assuring food security to the needy in India;
- ❖ Constraints in achieving food security in present Indian scenario;
- ❖ Role of Public Distribution System-in providing food security in India;
- ❖ Providing nutritious food and it's impact on poverty alleviation in India;
- ❖ Role of Women in providing food security
- ❖ Challenges to be taken care in new millennium;
- ❖ Food inflation, environmental issues and human development
- ❖ Suggested measures in achieving food security in India

Basic issues related to food security are :

- i) Economic liberalization in 1990's and it's impact on agriculture and food security:
- ii) Establishment of WTO: particularly the agreement on Agriculture (AoA) under it:

- iii) Challenges of Climatic change: crisis of the three F's viz., food prices, fuel prices, and financial crisis:
- iv) The phenomenon of hunger amidst plenty ,i.e., accumulation of stocks in the early years of this decade and in 2008-09 along with high levels of poverty:
- v) Introduction of targeting in the Public Distribution System (PDS) for the first time in the 1990's:
- vi) 'Right to Food' campaign for improving food security in the country and the Supreme Court Orders on mid day meal schemes:
- vii) Proposal for National Food Security Law (Right to Food); and
- viii) Monitorable targets under the Tenth and Eleventh Five Year Plans similar to the Millennium Development goals(MDGs) on poverty and women and child nutrition security of the country.

These developments in the last two decades have provided both opportunities and challenges for food and nutrition security of the country.

Part-I Various dimensions of food security identified are :

- a. Availability of food items;
- b. Access to food items;
- c. Food utilization and Consumption disparities; and
- d. Stability to obtain food.

Part- II Strategy dilemma for food security

- a). PDS and issues of major concern:
- b). National Food Security Mission (NFSM) / National Food Security Bill

Part- III Challenges and measures to sustain food security

- Agricultural policy;
- Public Distribution Policy;
- Reducing wastage of food;
- Preserving food exceeding its demand (left over food) in hotels and functions;
- Water shortage and crisis
- Change in the land use
- Degradation of land
- Change in climate
- Production of cash crops
- Crop diseases
- Political corruption in price setting for agricultural produce

Part-IV Key issues in ensuring food security

- The annual growth rate of food grains production is lower than the present annual growth rate of population
- The gains of green revolution are limited to certain areas where irrigated farming is practiced
- Degradation of our natural resource base arising from water and water erosion
- The size of farm holdings is declining and as a result the people working in agriculture sector is also declining
- Public investment in agriculture is declining due to the neglect of this sector
- Emphasis on commercial crops has been hindering the food security.

Part-V Measures to sustain food production & food security

✓ Short term measures

- Prohibiting the diversion of farm land for non-farm uses
- Assisting the farmers to overcome the financial, institutional and technological problems
- Rapidly improving the post harvest technology
- Expanding sustainable sources of minor irrigation
- Diversifying the consumption of food grains from rice to millets , pulses and fruits

✓ Medium & Long term measures

- Enlarge the trading of agricultural products to generate market surplus of small farmers.
- Improve the potential of degraded lands by agro-forestry.
- Promote people's participation in sustaining use of water, land and forests.
- Encourage organic farming to enhance agricultural productivity.

The Seminar was organized by the Departments of Commerce and Economics, under the chairmanship of the Principal, KSN Govt. Degree College, Anantapur for two days i.e on 20 & 21st of August'2014 with the cooperation of ADEA, Anantapur under the sponsorship of UGC, SERO, Hyderabad. The seminar was planned for two days with three technical sessions of discussing the theme under the headship of expert panel members.

On 20 th August'2014 (Day one of the seminar) was planned with three technical sessions. On completion of the Inaugural address by the honourable invitees,

Technical Session I was chaired by two panel members namely., Dr Kallur, and

Dr G. Balarangaiah with paper presentations covering --

- Women & Food Security;
- Challenges and strategies of food security in India

Technical session-II was organized by Prof P.Ramappa and Dr A. Mahankalaiah covering four papers on

- Economic empowerment of women through dairy in Chittoor District;
- General views on food security- role of organic farming and financial assistance by banks;
- Public Distribution System in India
- Sustainability of agriculture

Technical Session –III monitored by Dr B. Muralidhar Rao and Dr G.Francis covered four paper presentations

- Challenges in Food security;
- An empirical study of change of cropping pattern and governments support in assuring food security;
- Avoiding Junk food in providing secured food to the poor;
- Utilisation of cultivated land effectively in increasing food security with the help of effective PDS system;

On Day Two of the Seminar i.e., on 21st August'2014 also three technical sessions were arranged.

Technical Session –IV was initiated by the panel members Dr Maddileti & Dr Srikanth .

Three papers were presented

- Food security & PD

- Food security & Human development;
- Food security and PDS in India

Technical Session –V was chaired by V.V Ramakrishna Satsry and B.A. Venkatesulu with four paper presentations

- Food security and Nutritional aspects;
- Food security and Inclusive growth and poverty;
- Food security challenges & Policies
- Food security and Inclusive growth process

Technical Session –VI was chaired by Dr C. Lakshmi Narayana Reddy, Dr. Raghavendra Rao & K. Rayappa with two paper presentations encouraging the students to clarify their doubts

- Food security with special reference to school children
- Nutritional aspects of food security in India.

With Valedictory function, Certificates were distributed on successful completion of the seminar.

The session was concluded by the Rapporteur's report on different papers submitted in the seminar. Papers were presented by UG and PG students of our college and other colleges too. Their ideas and doubts were taken care of during the sessions by clarifying their doubts helping them to analyze the issue critically with difference of elderly opinions.

The seminar really gave an insight in the minds of young women students about the burning issue and encouraged their enthusiastic participation in understanding the concept. The seminar could go to the root level of rural students in creating awareness among them about different issues relating to food security in our country.

Women students of our college insisted on creating more awareness among themselves and their families in their villages by insisting on

- importance of avoiding wastage of food in and around their localities;
- discouraging junk food, cool drinks
- promoting traditional way of cooking and thus keeping up the nutritional values in food and thus improving the level of food security to the needy in a planned way from micro level i.e., from their homes reminding that India is the Land of Devi Annapoorna.
